Q: Unable to launch applications in Visual Studio I'm using Windows 8 Pro and I can't launch any Windows 8 application. I can't launch any solution in Visual Studio. I receive the following error: "Could not launch the app because the executable was signed using a code signing certificate from the Windows Phone Store. This certificate is not trusted on your machine." I'm not a Windows user but I enabled certificate installation from the Internet using a PS script. The error occurs with all applications. For example, if I try to launch my first WPF project "VS2010" I obtain the error. I tried to install and reinstall the Windows Phone SDK but the problem continues. I also tried disabling all Windows related certificates but again the same error. How can I launch an application and debug it? A: I had the same problem. It was a known error until they released the April build. I've opened "Hold startup" and it worked.
