has to be the best winter concert in the Twin Cities! Fiddling on the front steps of a mansion is too boring; instead, dream up a lifelong dream: climbing the world's tallest building. If you're planning a trip to one of the world's most prominent building sites, check out this handy guide to The Shard. The 37-story tower, designed by Renzo Piano and costing £203 million to complete, opened in July 2012 and soon became London's tallest building. Spanning 1,016 feet, it has the world's biggest viewing platform on its roof. There's also an observation deck on level 35, as well as an underground park. The tower is used as the headquarters for the financial services company Citigroup and has earned headlines since opening for being a symbol of London's austerity times, and also for its brutal design. (Like us on Facebook, follow us on Twitter @SHNewsHQ)

The Shard stands on the site of the former financial district of the Southwark for a long time. In 1633, Southwark's plague-stricken citizens signed a charter promising to pay the Great Plague a toll. In exchange, Mayor Thomas

Sheppard promised the citizens peace and protection. It is a ghost town today, but Southwark's Dickensian past is wonderfully preserved on this Mid-South Street. Under the river was a cemetery where 200 plague victims were buried, complete with black and
