Geography Location The municipality is located in the north-east of Mecklenburg, about 50 km north-east of Berlin. Situated in the Oderbruch und Eberswalde Vogtei, it is formed by 5 villages: Emsmühlen, Gensellen, Grünstadt, Mehren and Warthausen. Neighbouring municipalities Neighbouring cities are Pyritz, Brückenau and Groß Stüchelberg in Brandenburg and, to the south-west, Solingen in North Rhine-Westphalia. History Emsmühlen lies on the eastern bank of the Oder. It was part of the princely Principality of Mecklenburg from 1409 until 1775. In that time, the princes built a castle next to the parish church St. Vitus. Several extensions were added to this building in the 18th century. The castle grounds became a residence of the heiress of the Mecklenburg-Strelitz family, Catherine the Great of Russia, who was strolling in Mecklenburg in 1762 and 1763. In the modern era, the industrialisation of Emsmühlen was one of the success stories in Mecklenburg. The textile industry flourished and is still one of the major employer. At present, the fortunes of Emsmühlen are uncertain: its sales tax revenue has been steadily falling for the last few years, while the number of inhabitants has increased by 1. c6a93da74d
